

NORTH CAROLINA BOARD of MASSAGE & BODYWORK THERAPY

Regulating the practice of massage and bodywork therapy and its educational institutions, for the protection of the public.

2013 NEWSLETTER

Message from the Board Chair, Ed Preston M.D.

2013 was a busy year and much was accomplished. Some issues the Board is currently working on are: (1) how to evaluate and monitor the competence of continuing education providers and the appropriateness of continuing education courses. Several national entities, including the Federation of State Massage Boards, have begun efforts to address these issues and the Board is fully supportive; (2) the problem faced by therapists from other states who choose to relocate in North Carolina but are unable to meet all the educational standards in North Carolina. The Board, working internally and with the assistance of public and private massage therapy schools, is completing workable solutions to this issue; (3) making it possible for licensees to renew their license online. Further online developments will be coming in 2014; (4) the project undertaken by the Board to reduce the use of paper and move to a digital format is now well underway. This is an efficient way for the Board to address its various responsibilities and it also results in a significant cost saving; (5) the long-term project of improving public education about massage and bodywork therapy is proceeding well; (6) the Board continues to work with other agencies and licensing boards on matters of mutual concern; (7) the Board continues to recommend that LMBTs obtain their Art of Healing license from the North Carolina Department of Revenue. The Board is advised the Department of Revenue's rule exempting masseuses and masseurs from this license is in the process of being removed by the North Carolina Department of Revenue; and (8) lastly, the Board is concerned about human trafficking in the State as well as in the entire country. It is apparent that conditions allowing this activity are present in North Carolina in questionable establishments that offer massage and bodywork therapy services. In order to better protect the public, the Board is seeking authority to put in place a regulatory and oversight procedure for establishments.

As you can see from the above, 2014 will be another busy year for the Board. We appreciate the support of the LMBTs in North Carolina on the various initiatives of the Board and welcome your comments and suggestions.

INTRODUCING ONLINE LICENSE RENEWAL

For licensees renewing their license in 2014, the task has become easier. Beginning August 1, 2014, licensees will have the option to renew online. Information about the online renewal is currently on the Board website. To complete your online renewal you will need the following:

1. Your LMBT license number
2. The last four digits of your social security number
3. A minimum of 24 continuing education contact hours of approved continuing education
4. A valid MasterCard, Visa or debit card with an expiration date, security code, and complete billing address

The Board is accepting credit cards for online renewal only. The Board does not keep or store your credit card information. Transactions are processed through a secure payment site. Because the Board is sensitive to the privacy and interests of licensees and believes that the protection of the licensee's financial information is a significant responsibility, a privacy policy has been adopted which is available on the website.

The easy three page online renewal process can be reviewed in detail on the Board website. The process should take about 15 to 20 minutes.

- Renewal Page One (1) updates personal and employment information.
- Renewal Page Two (2) is for entering continuing education hours.
- Renewal Page Three (3) contains a declaration of moral character questions.

Each page must be completed in order for the renewal process to continue. Upon completion of the information and payment of the $100.00 renewal fee, the licensee will be able to print a copy of their license. The licensee will have access to other online services during the year, including:

Manage My Profile:

Contains your personal and employment information from the Board's files. The licensee will be able to review and correct that information during the year so the Board's information can be kept current.

ESTABLISHMENT REGULATION

In late 2011, the North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy (Board) began looking into the need to regulate establishments that employ or contract with persons to provide or otherwise offer massage and bodywork therapy services to the public. The need for this was determined after the Board had received complaints about unlicensed persons being hired and allegations of other illegal activity in violation of State laws including the Massage and Bodywork Therapy Practice Act. The Board determined the conversation needed to begin to create rules that would require entities that provided massage and bodywork therapy services to be fully aware of the laws governing the practice.

The Establishment Regulation Committee (ERC) was established at the Board's December 2011 meeting. In February of 2012, the ERC held its first meeting to review best practices from other states who regulate establishments as part of their practice acts.

The ERC created a list of survey questions that were submitted to each of these states. The responses were utilized to help develop the first draft of proposed Establishment Regulation rules for North Carolina. This first draft was discussed at the April 2012 public meeting of the Board. Several therapists who were in attendance, provided constructive feedback on how some of the wording of the draft would potentially affect the profession.

With these new perspectives, the ERC went back to committee to clarify and modify the language of the proposed rule. Six more drafts were to follow. The Board plans to finalize the proposed Establishment Regulation Rules and submit for publication, consideration and discussion in 2014.

PUBLIC EDUCATION CAMPAIGN

During their retreat in 2010, the North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy determined that the general public needed to be made more aware of the laws governing the practice of Massage and Bodywork Therapy in North Carolina. One of the action items decided by the Board was for the Communication Committee to create and implement a Public Awareness Campaign.

To begin its Public Awareness Campaign, the Communication Committee created a Consumer Resource page on the www.BMBT.org website. This page contains frequently asked questions that the general public may have about the practice of Massage and Bodywork Therapy in North Carolina. On the website, there is also a link to the online verification page that enables an individual to be sure their therapist is practicing with an active and unencumbered license.

Another decision the Communication Committee and Board made was to create a series of brief Public Service Announcement videos. It was determined that the initial Public Service Announcement campaign would consist of 4 videos. Each video would be 3 - 5 minutes long. The topics chosen were (1) "How to find a Licensed Massage & Bodywork Therapist"; (2) "What you should know before receiving your first massage"; (3) "How to file a complaint with the Board"; and (4) "What is the difference between being licensed and certified?" These videos are currently in production.
