

NORTH CAROLINA BOARD of MASSAGE & BODYWORK THERAPY

Regulating the practice of massage and bodywork therapy and its educational institutions, for the protection of the public.

2019 NEWSLETTER

Message from the Board Chair, Nancy Harrell, LMBT

I would like to begin by taking this opportunity to thank the NCBMBT staff members for the outstanding work they have done this past year. As always, it is their daily dedication, organization and effort that makes the work of the Board members possible. We could not do what we do without them and we appreciate their commitment to helping move us forward.

I would also like to take this space, in what will be my last “Message from the Chair”, to speak on the opportunities that massage and bodywork therapists have for continuing education. It is my hope that all of the LMBT’s in North Carolina see themselves as professionals in their field and are proud of their chosen career. As professionals, I hope that the importance of continuing our education is understood and seen as an opportunity to learn and grow and improve ourselves along with our ability to help our clients. One of the best ways to avoid or overcome “burnout” is to learn a new modality, improve your skills or advance your knowledge of a chosen topic.

In 2018 new Rules and Regulations were approved that expand LMBT’s ability to complete their continuing education requirements and beginning in 2020, therapists and bodyworkers will be able to begin including these opportunities into their CE portfolio.

In addition to being able to earn CE credit by successfully completing a live or online massage and bodywork therapy class, as we have in the past, LMBTs may now do the following as well:

- Academic Coursework (this has been approved in the past but the language has been expanded and updated)
- Small Group Study
- Participation as a mentor or mentee in a Mentorship Agreement
- Professional Writing
- Presentation and Instruction
- Professional Meetings and Activities
- Research and Grants

If you select one of the new opportunities for CE credit, please make certain that you make yourself familiar with the specific requirements and how many CE credits you will earn through successful completion. This information can be found in the Board Rules and Regulations, 21 NCAC 30 .0701.

I hope everyone has a Happy and Healthy 2020!

NEW BOARD MEMBER

The Honorable Tim Moore, Speaker of the House, appointed Robert Reeves of Mecklenburg County to the position previously held by Renee' Hays. His term began July 9, 2018 and will end June 30, 2021. Governor Roy Cooper appointed Ella Price of Wake County to the position previously held by Dianne Layden. Her term began on September 25, 2019 and will end June 30, 2022.

Robert Reeves:

Robert Reeves is a native of Charlotte, North Carolina. He graduated from South Carolina State University, with a Bachelor of Science degree in business and a minor in biology. After graduation, he was employed with the Charlotte Mecklenburg school system for several years. Robert always knew he had a passion for therapeutic work, after his experience as an athletic trainer at South Carolina State University so he decided to pursue a career in massage therapy. He attended Southeastern Institute where he graduated as valedictorian in August 2014. Following graduation, he was extended an opportunity to practice at Massage Envy in Charlotte where he developed an even greater love in his field by learning and experiencing new modalities and listening to client's feedback about his talents. The fact that those clients put their trust in his capable hands has served as an invaluable confirmation to continue his methodologies of massage therapy practices. Currently, his favorite modality is craniosacral therapy. In his spare time, he enjoys watching the Panthers, Patriots and Tarheel basketball as well as listening to classical music. He also enjoys spending time with this family and friends and reading literature, especially material in massage and bodywork therapy.

Ella Price:

Ella M. Price serves as a public member of the Board. Ms. Price graduated from North Carolina State University with a B.S. Degree in Business. After graduating, she started her professional career in finance and accounting. While working, Ms. Price felt strongly about helping those individuals less fortunate and giving back to the community by volunteering with hospice facilities and local soup kitchens.

Ella Price worked with the GlaxoSmithKline division responsible for implementing settlement-mandated pharmaceutical compliance regulations and programs designed to promote accountability and transparency in GlaxoSmithKline's business practices.

Following GlaxoSmithKline's 2014 corporate restructuring, Ms. Price joined the Capital Law Group as a Compliance Officer. Her responsibilities include overseeing client financial and legal compliance, along with preparation and submission of various filings to meet federal, state, and local regulatory requirements.

CBD Oil

Many therapists and massage and bodywork therapy establishments have been calling and writing to find out if they can use or sell CBD oil in their massage and bodywork therapy practices and businesses. The Board has been advising LMBTs and business owners that the application of CBD oil in North Carolina is not legal for LMBTs and is not legal for sale by establishments.

The Board is concerned about the efficacy of CBD oils. What would be the proper, optimal dosing of CBD for each client? What studies show the percentage of CBD to carrier base to be effective? If a LMBT is seeing six clients a day, and each client asks for CBD infused products to be used, what is the effect on the therapist using this product six hours a day? There are many unanswered questions.

This is not a question about whether the Board believes CBD would be beneficial to clients of massage and bodywork therapy. This is the Board advising therapists and businesses about the legality of using or selling this product at this time.

Mr. Charles Wilkins, Legal Counsel to the Board, has advised:

I am aware of the passage of the Federal Farm Bill. The Farm Bill gives the states the power to legalize hemp products, but, at this time, I am not aware of any statute or case law in North Carolina that provides that CBD oil is legal to use as a lotion in a massage and bodywork therapy session in North Carolina or is legal for an LMBT to sell in North Carolina.

In an attempt to clarify the CBD questions, on January 9, 2019, the Board requested an opinion from the North Carolina Attorney General's Office and made several follow-up requests. We now have a February 4, 2020 response from Tien Cheng, Assistant NC Attorney General, which stated:

Thank you for your January 9, 2019 email and subsequent emails on the questions "whether 'hemp based CBD oil' is legal to use as a lotion in a massage and bodywork therapy session in North Carolina or is legal for [a licensed massage and bodywork therapist] to sell in North Carolina." Due to pending and evolving legislation, the Attorney General's Office is unable to provide the North Carolina Board of Massage and Bodywork Therapy with an advisory letter; however, we would like to share the following information:

The North Carolina General Assembly is considering Senate Bill 315 (v.10), which if passed in its current edition would clarify the legal landscape of hemp products, including CBD oil (cannabidiol), in North Carolina. There is also language in SB315 (v.10), Section 2.(b) to amend Schedule VI of the North Carolina Controlled Substances Act. The 2018 U.S. Farm Bill has already exempted hemp from the term marijuana (marijuana) and THC in hemp from the Federal Controlled Substances Act. See Pub. L. 115-334, Sec. 12608. You can follow the status of SB315 at <https://www.ncleg.gov/BillLookUp/2019/sb315>.

On the civil side, cannabidiol and other hemp products will still have to comply with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FFD&CA) and also the North Carolina Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. The Federal Food and Drug Administration has indicated that cosmetic products including cannabis and cannabis-derived ingredients still need to comply with the FFD&CA, including that they cannot be adulterated or misbranded. (<https://www.fda.gov/news-events/public-health-focus/fda-regulation-cannabis-and-cannabis-derived-products-questions-and-answers#cosmetics>).

Again, thank you for your inquiry, but due to pending and evolving legislation, the Attorney General's Office is unable to provide an advisory letter.

As you can see from the above, the NC Attorney General's Office, due to pending and evolving legislation, is unable to provide an opinion or an advisory letter. It does seem clear that any cannabidiol and other hemp product used or sold by a LMBT or an establishment will have to comply with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FFD&CA) and also the North Carolina Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Charles Wilkins further advises:

An LMBT is required to abide by local, State and Federal laws. An LMBT is not permitted to use or sell substances that are illegal. Until North Carolina passes a law that says CBD oil is legal to use in a lotion in a massage and bodywork therapy session in North Carolina or is legal for an LMBT to sell in North Carolina I cannot legally advise the Board that CBD oil is legal to use as a lotion in a massage and bodywork therapy session in North Carolina or is legal for an LMBT to sell in North Carolina.

The Board hopes to provide more information when either a North Carolina court or the North Carolina legislature provides guidance.

Licensure of Establishments

The North Carolina Legislature passed Senate Bill 548 in July 2017 that provided the NCBMBT is responsible for overseeing and licensing establishments that provide massage and bodywork therapy services. In 2018, the North Carolina Rules Review Commission approved Rules for the Board to implement its licensing of massage and bodywork therapy establishments. After consideration by the 2019 North Carolina Legislature the rules became effective November 15, 2019.

An Establishment license will require persons operating a business that provides massage and bodywork therapy services to meet the requirements set forth in Senate Bill 548 and the Rules of the Board to ensure the safe, licensed and effective practice of massage and bodywork therapy. Some of those requirements are:

1. Adequate, safe and sanitary facilities
2. Compliance with building, fire, safety and health codes
3. Employees or independent contractors are currently licensed by the Board

The Board is in the process of implementing the Legislature's mandate to license establishments that provide massage and bodywork therapy services to the public. An Establishment license is expected to cost $150 and will be effective for a two-year period. It is anticipated the necessary forms and online licensing process will be ready by August/September 2020 and licensing will begin shortly thereafter.

Updates to Continuing Education

Effective November 15, 2019, the Board amended Rules .0701, .0702 and adopted Rule .0703 to expand and clarify continuing education changes and opportunities for LMBTs. You can review the amended rules by going to the Practice Act and Rules tab on the Board's website www.bmbt.org.

Other than various word changes in Rule .0702, the Board amended Rule .0701 to add more opportunities, in addition to continuing education courses and academic coursework, to obtain continuing education as provided below:

- Small Group Study
- Mentorship Agreement
- Professional Writing
- Presentation and Instruction
- Professional Meetings and Activities
- Research and Grants

Please make sure to review Rule .0701 for details on the approved continuing education, the number of contact hours that can be counted and required documentation for each category.

Rule .0703 was adopted to define the scope of qualified activities for continuing education which "shall be related to roles and responsibilities in massage and bodywork therapy and serve to protect the public by enhancing the licensee's continuing competence."

Board staff is working with IT to update the current online CE system. Once it is updated, LMBTs will be notified by email so these opportunities can be submitted for the 2020 license renewal period and all future renewal periods.
